

Dear Sir or Madam:

For many years, my household was receiving extremely annoying unsolicited phone calls from telemarketers. These calls were unwanted and at many times very inconvenient. Since I have signed up for the federal and NJ "do not call lists" I have not received one phone call from a telemarketer. Both "do not call lists" are working, and if the NJ "do not call list" is ended then I fear the calls will begin shortly thereafter. I may be difficult for some to understand that the simple things in life are what is most important, and to be able to relax in peace and quiet after coming home from a long day of work is extremely important to the mental health of all New Jerseyans. Please keep this in mind before succumbing to the telmarketer's lobby, and remember, if I want to purchase a product or service, I will call them.

Phil P.
